

THE CITY'S SOCIAL SIDE

Cabinet Officers Hosts at Dinner; Marshalls Absent

Thanksgiving Day finds the Administration circle practically complete, save for the absence of the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, who are due to return to Washington the first week in December, after an extended visit to Mrs. Marshall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Kimsey, in Arizona.

The President and Mrs. Wilson started the day by attending church service, will dine at the White House with a little company of guests recruited from members of their families, and will wind up the evening by attending the Navy Relief ball at Rauscher's.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Lansing, who are in mourning for Mrs. Lansing's father, Gen. John W. Foster, naturally had no social side to their observation of the day. The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. McAdoo, the Secretary of War and Mrs. Baker, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Lane, and the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston are dining en famille, and Postmaster General Burleson is out of town, so the Burleson family will pass their Thanksgiving quietly.

of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Redfield and the family of the Secretary of Labor, William B. Wilson, were among the cabinet families who entertained uniformed guests at dinner. Thomas Watt Gregory, Jr., a student at Princeton University, is with Attorney General and Mrs. Gregory for the holiday, and they had a number of soldiers dining with them. Nalle Gregory, who is at the Virginia Military Institute, was given no Thanksgiving holiday, and Miss Jane Gregory is in Texas to remain until early December.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels had with them for dinner a score of sailors and marines who have been at the Naval Hospital, and are now convalescent. Mrs. George Dewey was the only other guest except the family and Mrs. Daniels' mother and sisters, Mrs. A. W. Bagley and the Misses Bagley.

Secretary and Mrs. Daniels have their four sons with them for the holidays. Three are in school, and the fourth, Joseph Daniels, Jr., U. S. M. C., is on furlough from his post in Philadelphia.

Secretary and Mrs. Redfield's guests will be several young officers, friends of their son, Humphrey Redfield, U. S. R. Mr. Redfield is now stationed at Washington, having been detailed to duty in the office of the Paymaster General.

Secretary Wilson III in West.
Mrs. William B. Wilson's family reunion is marred only by the absence of Mr. Wilson, who is in the West. The three sons of the family, Lieut. William B. Wilson, Jr., Lieut. Joseph B. Wilson, and Private James Wilson were all in town on furlough. Private Wilson coming from Annapolis, Md., and Lieut. William B. Wilson from Fort Niagara, N. Y.

Lieut. Joseph Wilson is stationed at Camp Meade. He was accompanied to Washington by Private William Williamson and Private John Tennie, relatives of the Wilson family, and three other men from Housburg, Pa., who are in camp at Meade.

Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters, Miss Agnes Hart Wilson, Miss Mary Wilson, and Miss Jessie Wilson, will complete the merry party about her dinner table.

One of the most brilliant events of

Lieut. Webb, U. S. A., Weds Miss Cuthbert

Mr. and Mrs. John Sidney Webb went to Philadelphia yesterday to be present at the marriage of their son, Lieut. Hayward Hutchinson Webb, U. S. A., and Miss Mary Ogden Cuthbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brooks Cuthbert, which took place last evening at 8 o'clock in historic Christ Church, the Rev. Dr. Louis C. Washburn officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert and their daughter are members of a prominent Philadelphia family, but have recently been making their home in Altoona, Pa.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin and point lace, with a court train, and carried a showed bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Miss Cornelia Dodd, of Merion, Conn., was maid of honor. She was gown in gray satin and georgette crepe, with a hat of black tulle and silver. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Emily Frances Cuthbert and Miss Sidney Randall Webb, sisters of the bride and bridegroom, were dressed alike in frocks of blue, yellow, and lavender tulle over silver cloth and lavender tulle hats. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of Ward roses, yellow snap dragons and double violets.

Lieut. George W. Brent, U. S. A., of Alexandria, Va., was best man. There were no ushers. Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends that could be reached hastily were present.

Dr. and Mrs. James F. Mitchell, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, went on from Washington to attend the ceremony.

An interesting historical incident in connection with this wedding was that Miss Cuthbert's third great-grandfather, Thomas Cuthbert, was a ward of the Christ Church at the time of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Mrs. Joseph Daniels will leave Washington on Sunday evening for Savannah, Ga., and will be gone several days. She is making the trip in the interest of the war council work of the Y. W. C. A., and will attend a luncheon to be given by the Rotary Club of Savannah in this connection.

Dr. Charles Wood, pastor of the Church of the Covenant. Both bride and bridegroom were unattended and only members of the immediate families were present. Mrs. Labouisse's sister, Mrs. M. R. Frederick Townsend, of New York, coming down for the wedding.

The bride wore her traveling costume, a smart tailored suit of dark blue gabardine, with a small blue hat and dark furs. The ceremony was followed by an informal breakfast for the little company assembled for the wedding. After a ten-day wedding trip Lieut. Smith and his bride will return to Washington to remain until he is detailed to duty. He has just completed the course of training at the reserve officers' camp at Fort Myer and was commissioned last Monday.
